PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

DRUM ROLL PLEASE! CCARC is pleased to announce that the Common Pleas Journals have been indexed from 1808-1893 or Vol 2 thru #34. This was an amazing effort by Shirl Criss, Deb Weigle and myself. From indexing the journals, another index has been made of Birthdates of Children listed in the Common Pleas Journals (1819-1871) for guardianships. What information can be gleaned from these records! Another index project by Deb Weigle is the Jerusalem Evangelical Lutheran Church Records of Columbiana, Ohio, dating 1869-1923. Carolyn Stepien has completed more indexing of Eells Funeral Home records. The years range from 1846 to 1942. Some listings could not be found in other sources. Donna Carroll has been making an index of marriages listed in Valley Echo, the East Palestine newspaper. Many marriages are listed in the newspapers which took place somewhere else. CCARC has received some wonderful donations to add to our collection (Lyddy Chamberlain's scrapbook, photo album with names and unnamed pictures; Highland Cemetery records and box of unnamed photos; East Palestine Memorial Library donated 44 yearbooks ; 3 volumes of Salem (Ohio) Republican newspaper abstracts 1857-1874 by Dorothy Yakubek and always Bible records (just finished filing Carol W Bell's copied Bible Records plus individual donated Bible Records). Please take note. We know the web site is not correct. We have someone working on a new site. The phone number to use for CCARC is 724-825-5011. Our hours are Tues thru Fri 9:30 to 3:00. Hope to see you at CCARC to use these wonderful records that can not be found anywhere else!

Free Online Access to Digitally Archived Newspapers

What do we find in a Common Pleas Journal?

One thing we noticed was cases marked with deceased, it might depict an estate or a petition to partition . There might not be a particular date, but the year would be there. How many people have a death date anywhere near legal in 1823, 1824 or 1826. Early death records began in 1867, so you can see this would benefit descendants looking for early dates. Below is all the records for the deceased Common Pleas Journal Five (5) recorded 1823 -1826. Our Common Pleas Journals cover 1808-1893. Many times these deaths might not be recorded in Probate. Come in and check out these records.

The Sunlit Road

"As dew to the blooms, and bud to the bee, as scent to the rose, are these memories to me."

By TOM JONES.

When East Liverpool was incorporated into a village in 1834 there was but one hearse in Lisbon. It was one that had been made in the shape of a coffin of days a century ago. This had a narrowed head section in the manner of the times. This was arranged as a sort of receptacle for the casket of similar design. It was situated on cross bars and joined with long wooden springs. It was a vehicle that was drawn by one horse.

This old hearse had another unusual feature in that the driver's seat which really was a chair was situated one-third of the distance back from its front. In subsequent days horse-drawn hearses had their seats in the front of such vehicles and immediately behind the horses attached to them. Doubtless this initial hearse in Lisbon motivated by single horse-power was an outstanding departure in the development of the county seat when it was introduced to the people living in and about it.

For many years the town functioned as did all early communities without a vehicle in which the bodies of the departed could be transported to the cemeteries in which they were to be interred. What ultimately became of this old hearse none now appear to know. It may be that it was for a time exhibited in some museum or maintained by manufacturers of the automobiles which they turned out in their early days.

This old hearse was owned by Erastus E. Eells, who coming to the Columbiana county seat from New England, became a cabinet maker. In this capacity he made coffins. In this latter department he continued making all of the coffins that were used in Lisbon to 1866. The only exception were certain metallic ones that were utilized in the long interim in which he was active in his varied activities in the county seat.

In all Mr. Eells had the record of 63 years of business life in Lisbon. In this interval of time he buried over 5,000 persons. In doing so, he personally drove over 50,000 miles. It was estimated. His record additionally stood out because of the fact that never was he behind time or missed a single engagement.

Prominent Abolitionist.

In addition to those held in Lisbon he functioned in funerals as far away as Cleveland, Cadiz and Canton, this state, and New Castle, Pa. He also had the experience in his long-drawn burying career of interring three persons who were over 100 years of age when they succumbed. He himself lived eight months and five days more than 63 years of age. He passed away on April 18, 1892.

He, despite his years, was enabled to attend to his business affairs the day previous to his passing. He was a man of strong character, a personage who was kindly and gentle in disposition. He was long an elder in the United Presbyterian church. He was the treasurer of Columbiana county at the outset of the Civil War, his term being from 1869 to 1861. He succeeded B. F. Thompson in this office and was himself succeeded by Eli Sturgeon in the term from 1862 to 1863.

Mr. Eells also stood out in Columbiana county. It is recalled as a strong abolitionist. Indeed, he was one of the earliest noted as such in Eastern Ohio. He was among those who was said to have been active for almost a quarter of a century before the Civil war in promulgating activities of the underground railway which resulted in the successful liberation of many escaping slaves who managed to reach this "roadway's" connections in the north.

During his long lifetime he was married four times. His first three wives passed away. He thus was the father of several children. Some of his descendants continued their residence in the county seat where they have been among its leading and active citizens.

John Eells was the first of the name to come to America on the third voyage of the Mayflower in 1628. His son, Samuel, was the first of the family born in America. A year after his birth, in 1640, he was taken back to England by his parents. There he became a lawyer. He, in 1661, returned to America. He became a major in the army that took part in King Philip's war.

Family History

One of his descendants was Rev. John Eells who was the first pastor of the Congregational church in New Canaan, Conn. Erastus E. Eells was the son of Nathaniel Eells, who was the son of Jeremiah Eells. The latter came to Columbiana county in 1817 and settled on a farm in Elk Run township. He passed away in 1823. Erastus Eells located in Lisbon the following year. He was born in Clapboard, Conn., on August 9, 1808. He was apprenticed to Joseph Ledlie, a cabinet maker. He began business for himself in 1828.

He was followed in the same line of business by his son, Leonard Hanna Eells. It is possible that he was named for Dr. Leonard Hanna, the father of Mark Hanna, who also long lived in Lisbon. His son Erastus E. Eells, also continued in the same life work as his forbears. Other members of the family are said to have continued in the same departure. In earlier days this establishment is said to have had the distinction of being the second oldest in the United States.

It is also related of the first Erastus E. Eells that on one occasion he received notification of the need of a coffin just three hours before the time set for the funeral 10 miles away. Yet he managed to trim it as was then the custom and drive to the designated place in time to meet the engagement. His mother was said to have been Elizabeth Hoyt, a daughter of Justice Hoyt, a Baptist minister.

ERASTUS EELLS DEAD

A New Lisbon Undertaker Who Buried Over Five Thousand Persons.

About five o'clock last Thursday evening, Erastus Eells dropped dead at his residence on North Jefferson street. At the time of his death he had just returned home from the Speaker residence, where he had been making preparations for the funeral of Mrs. Louise M. Speaker, who died the day previous. Heart failure was the immediate cause of his death. His age was 83 years, 8 months and 5 days. Erastus Eells was born in New Canaan, Fairfield county, Connecticut, August 9, 1808. His parents came to Columbiana county in 1817, locating near New Lisbon where his father died in August 1823. Erastus remained on the home farm in Elkrun township, until 1824, when he came to New Lisbon and entered upon an apprenticeship to learn cabinet-making with Joseph Ledlie with whom he remained three years. After working as a journeyman one year he opened a shop of his own in 1828 and was in the business up to the day of his death, a period of sixty-four years, being perhaps the oldest undertaker in the state, during which time he buried over 5,000 persons and traveled with the hearse fully 60,000 miles. Mr. Eells was one of the original abolitionists of Eastern Ohio, and was one of the most active and trusted agents of the "underground railroad" before the war. He was married four times, and was the father of eleven children, only five of whom are living. Mr. Eells was elected county treasurer in 1859, and he discharged the duties of the office for a term of two years. He was probably the best known citizen in Columbiana county, and none ever lived in New Lisbon who was more respected. He meddled with no man's business, but was always willing to extend a helping hand to the poor and distressed. The United Presbyterian church never had a more earnest and sincere member and his whole life was in consonance with his faith. Though an honest and intelligent man he was unfortunate in business ventures. A short time ago he was compelled to make an assignment, which doubtless caused him much unhappiness and hastened his death. The funeral of Mr. Eells was held from his late residence Monday afternoon at one o'clock. It was largely attended by leading professional men—lawyers, physicians, journalists and by gentlemen prominent in the business circles of the town. A profusion of flowers bore testimony to the esteem of friends who knew and esteemed him as a life, among which were a basket of orange offerings from Hamilton, Hemmon, Arnold & Co., of Allegheny, Pa., a handsome bouquet of lilies from the New Lisbon Episcopal Church, and a beautiful wreath from F. M. Atterholt and wife, of Akron. The air was redolent with the perfume of the flowers offering up so many prayers of praise of him who lay dead. Rev. J. M. Moore, pastor of the United Presbyterian Church, officiated, assisted by Revs. Oliphant, Chandler and Gruber. Rev. Moore spoke feelingly and eloquently, paying a handsome tribute to the memory of the deceased. As the venerable form lay in the stillness of death it seemed as the quiet slumber of the wearied one resting from labor; and it was hard to realize that a never ending sleep had sealed his eyes to earthly vision. The pall bearers were: Robert Hole, Salem; J. Reeves, Leetonia; Henry Crowl, Leetonia; Ado and Charles Sipe, New Lisbon; Mr. Craig, Freedom, Pa.; Wilson McLaughlin and James K. Frew, New Lisbon. Erastus Eells is gone! His cold form has been borne to its lasting resting place, anointed with the tears of our people, who will ever cherish his memory with undying affection.

Taken from the booklet: ONE HUNDREDTH ANNIVERSARY of The Founding of THE FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH, Salem, Ohio

Of the first Charter Members, only Mrs. Rebecca Campbell, lived in town. On Nov 21st Hugh Stewart, James Wilson, and Nathaniel McCracken were elected as elders, and a little later Christian Bowman, and Terah Jones were added to the session. Rev. Valandingham continued to supply the church for one-fourth of his time for two years, afterwards he preached here one-third of his time, residing at New Lisbon until his death occurred in October 1839. The first child baptised in this church, was Miss Lizzie Wilson, of sainted memory.

The church as first constituted was represented in New Lisbon Presbytery. After the union of the old and new school parties, a new arrangement was made, by which the south part of the New Lisbon Presbytery was annexed to that of Steubenville, and the north part, and part of Trumbull, formed Mahoning Presbytery.

After the death of Rev. Valandingham, the congregation formed a union with the congregation at Canfield, and obtained the ministerial labors of Rev. Wm. McCombs, for one half of his time from Jan. 4th 1840.
